INSPECT SCHOOL BUILDING

Asheville Committee Visits Here Before Building in West Asheville. May Reproduce Building.

A committee composing of county superintendent of Education, W. R. Hipps, Rev. A. E. Brown and others of Asheville, visited Hendersonville Monday to inspect the graded school building here, with the view of getting ideas for the new graded school proposed for west Asheville. Prof. G. C. Briggs extended a welcome to the gentlemen and showed them through the entire building. Prof. Briggs says that they were very much impressed with the arrangements of the local school and that it is more than likely that West Asheville will get a reproduction of our school, with a few changes. He learned that there are about 800 school children in West Asheville.

Judge Ewart Gives Digest of New State Primary Law.

out, or erase his ballot in any way either in the primary or general election, but must designate his choice for any office on the official ballots by marking the cross mark in the square on the ticket.

The tickets are placed by the judges in the following named boxes, viz:

"The National Primary Box. That is for your choice as President and Vice President.

"State Primary Box for Governor and other State officers.

"Legislative Primary Box" that is for member house and all county and township officers. This box is also called "County Primary Box."

There will not be a new registration ordered in this county, but all registrars are required to copy the names of all voters in the old books in new registration books, and on a separate column in said book he must designate the party with which the voter affiliates, whether Republican, Democrat, or Progressive.

All parties offering themselves for registration must answer the question, required to be asked by the registrar: "With which political party are you affiliated?"

No voter can decline to answer this question. If he refuses to do so, he cannot register. His answer is set down by the registrar in the column above referred to.

No person offering to vote in a primary will be permitted to vote unless he is a legal voter, and declares, and has recorded on the registration books that he affiliates with the political party in whose primary he proposes to vote, and is in good faith a member thereof, meaning that he intends to affiliate with the party in whose primary he purposes to vote, and is in good faith a member thereof.

Until he makes this declaration no voter will be permitted to vote in a primary, nor can he procure from any of the judges, or the registrar an official ballot.

Nor when he receives an official ballot is he allowed to vote in the primary for any candidate except those named as candidates by the party to which he has declared he belongs.

He may vote for any one, or all of the candidates named on his official ballot.

He may hand his ballot to the judges to place in the box, or he may deposit it himself.

All expenses incurred in the election are paid by the county.

At the primary any one may challenge the right of a voter to vote either upon the grounds that he is not a legal voter, or that he does not affiliate with such party, or does not in good faith intend to support the candidates nominated in the primary of such party, and it then becomes the duty of the registrar and judges to determine whether or not the elector has a right to vote in said primary.

It would clearly appear from the above provision that if a voter stated that he did not act with the party in whose primary he is voting, and did not intend to vote for the candidates named on his official ballot that he could not be permitted to vote in the primary.

However there is nothing in the act which requires or forces him to vote for any or all of the nominees named on the official ballot given him.

The act contains drastic provisions prohibiting the use of liquor at primary elections, the bribery, or intimidation of voters, neglect of official duties, or any violation of the primary law. Such violations are made misdemeanors, and are punishable with heavy fines, or imprisonment.

Candidates to secure a formal nomination must receive a majority of the votes cast.

Otherwise a second primary must be held, in which the candidates who received the highest and next highest number of votes are voted for, unless the party who received the next highest number of votes shall file with the county board a withdrawal from the race.

If a second primary is held it must be had four weeks after the first election is held.

After the primary is held and the result announced it is made the duty of the judges of the election to certify to the county board of election the names of the several county candidates, who have been nominated by the several political parties, and the names of the parties so nominated are printed at the expense of the county on a ballot in the same manner as the ballots used in the primary election.

The ballots are sent to the several registrars at least three days before the general election.

On each official ballot there shall be a large circle opposite the names of each party's candidate and printed instructions on said ticket that a vote in such large circle designated by making a cross mark, will be a vote for the entire ticket of the political party opposite said large circle.

Delegates to the National conventions are bound by the act to vote for the choice of their respective parties at such primary election.

There are other provisions of the law but as they are based on conditions not likely to arise in this county I have not deemed it necessary to name them. I have refrained from expressing any opinion on the law or its probable effects, but have simply given your readers the law as it is written. In a later communication I may give the Hustler, what in my judgment will be some of the effects of the law.

Respectfully yours,

H. G. EWART.

EDNEYVILLE NEWS.

Born to Mr and Mrs. Ernest Justus, Dec. 28th, a son.

Rev. T. A. Drake is holding a revival meeting at Mt Moriah.

Miss Ethel Gilbert spent Saturday night with Miss Sue Justus.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Edney on Dec. 28th, a son.

Mr. Roy Justus left Saturday for Rutherford college, where he will attend school for a while.

Mr. John Nesbitt and wife of Dome, N. C., moved into this place last week. We are glad to have them with us.

Prof. Grady McGill opened his school again Monday after spending a few days vacation at his home in Hickory Grove, S. C. We wish him a successful year.

Edneyville school was erected for the betterment of the country and to keep the boys from spending their days in rabbit hunting and their night in opossum hunting but many of them say they only intend to farm and will not need any education to farm with. They hunt a day in rain and snow with their feet frozen and say it is just too bad weather to go to school. Some say they can't raise the money to pay their tuition; but many of them spend 50 cents every few days for shells which would pay tuition several weeks. Since they are determined to grow up in ignorance it is now proposed by some to sell the fine school building for a hotel.

MRS. W. I. PENDER DEAD.

Former Hendersonville Lady Passes Away After Long Illness.

Mrs. Susan Patton Pender, wife of W. I. Pender, of Panama, died at the home of her aunt in this city early Tuesday morning. Mrs. Pender has been in ill health since her return from Panama several months ago. She came thinking that the change of climate would improve her health. Her death was quite sudden and a severe shock to a large circle of relatives and friends throughout Western North Carolina. She leaves a husband and two children, Caroline and Preston. She is also survived by her mother, Mrs. Anne E. Patton, and three sisters and a brother—Mrs. Jas. H. Hatch, Mrs. J. L. McDowell, Miss Caroline Patton of Hendersonville and P. F. Patton of Greenville, S. C.

Mr. Pender, who holds a government position on the Panama canal, was notified several days ago of the serious illness of his wife and he is now en route home. He will receive the sad news when he reaches New Orleans. The body of the deceased will be held until the arrival of the grief stricken husband and the date of the funeral has not been arranged definitely. The deceased was a member of the Episcopal church.
